New YMCA plans progressing well

Feasibilty survey encouraging, public in favor

By Michael Heil

GRANITE CITY

The Granite City School District recently sold a parcel of land along Pontoon Road to the Tri-City Area YMCA, opening the way for the possible construction of a new YMCA.

The parcel, located at 1620 Pontoon Road, was purchased for $200,000. YMCA will be obligated to make yearly payments beginning January 2001 that will run through January 2020.

Friday morning, members of the YMCA board of directors met with people involved in a feasibility survey on a proposed capital program to fund the new facility. John Papa, board president, said Thursday that the results of the survey will be available in a week or two, that several crucial aspects of the survey were encouraging, that there was almost unanimous public opinion in favor of the facility and that there is a great need for it.

> "The YMCA needs to move to where its client base is residing, and we've got very limited parking facilities at the present building."
> John Papa
> Board president

On the other hand, the shortcomings in the survey, Papa said, stem from the fact the YMCA is not seen as a place where people come and are active, in large because of the location. Papa said the movement of the population from the west to the east and north of Granite City and limited space available to upgrade the present location are the main reasons for the relocation.

"The YMCA needs to move to where its client base is residing, and we've got very limited parking facilities at the present building," Papa said, adding that the pool and gym cannot be upgraded and the present building is not air-conditioned.

Papa said in April, when he introduced plans for the YMCA to the Planning and Area election officials met Wednesday at the University of Missouri-St. Louis to discuss the shortage of election judges. 10,000 are needed in the Metro East area.

"We're here today to announce a major campaign to recruit," said Ronald D. Michaelson, executive director of the Illinois State Board of Elections. "Recruitment's always been a problem, especially in the major metropolitan areas. It's very difficult to get the full complement."

St. Clair County needs a total of 896 election judges.

Madison County needs 1,120 judges.

Volunteers hit corners Thursday

Sports, radio celebrities lend a hand

Thursday morning will start earlier than usual for many volunteers, as they prepare for one of the biggest Old Newsboys Days ever.

It will be dark as night as the volunteers take to the streets beginning at 6 a.m. to sell a special edition of the Suburban Journals. All proceeds from the early morning, street corner sales will be used to help hundreds of local children's charities.

This year, Old Newsboys Day has grown to include a myriad of special events throughout the area. Lou and Jackie Brock, the 1999 chairmen of Old Newsboys Day, will appear at a variety of sites to sell newspapers and talk with volunteers.

The Celebrity Corner intersection of Clayton Road and Brentwood Boulevard will be the scene of much activity, with appearances by the Brocks, Fredbird and KMOX Radio (1120-AM) news and sports personalities. Members of the Clayton Rotary also will be at

Child support check crisis ended

Dept. of Public Aid cites lack of information as cause

By Deborah L. Bates
Staff writer

METRO EAST

The crisis caused by a central disbursement unit for child support checks has been eliminated by a testing cycle, officials say.

After the federal mandate was initiated, thousands of custodial parents across the state stopped receiving child support checks. The Illinois Department of Public Aid, which runs the State Disbursement Unit, continues to say the problem has been caused by employers not sending the necessary data.

Before the entire state switched to the new disbursement process, the Department of Public Aid ran tests in DuPage and Cook counties. Those counties represent between 55 and 60 percent of child support cases in the state.

Joel Kagann, project director for the State Disbursement Unit, said because tests were run in DuPage and Cook counties, there are fewer problems in those counties than in the rest of the state. He said he doesn't believe the system will ever be without problems.

"I don't think it's every going to be possible," Kagann said.

"Each time a custodial parent moves, they will have to contact their local circuit clerk, who will in turn have to contact the disbursement unit. If the clerk is delayed in sending the new information to the unit, or if the unit is delayed in entering the information then someone will be late in getting their child support check. New York, having done this for six years, is still having problems," he said.

> "I don't know if they could have been more prepared for lack of data. As long as the data is correct there's not an issue."
> Joyce Jackson
> Spokeswoman, Department of Public Aid

U.S. Rep. Joe Lyons (D-Chicago) said that perhaps the northern areas should have switched to the new system before the rest of the counties did. Lyons is chairman of the House Child Support Enforcement Committee.

"Maybe we should have let northeast Illinois get online first and do a sharing program and do a fall-back system until we knew they had some level of comfort and confidence. There's no denying problems could have been underestimated. All of us legislators should have been a little more aware of the national issue here. Nobody's denying total responsibility. Nobody wants to accept total responsibility for the failure," Lyons said.

Kagann said most of the problems are in the southern part of Illinois.

"A lot are from the southern part of the state. Why? It's because the counties down there are smaller. They probably know everybody in the county," Kagann said.

Because the clerks were familiar with the names, they were able to correct the data themselves instead of making the employers fix the incorrect data, he said.

"That's what's lost when you went to a centralized system. That's the biggest problem," Kagann said.

Joyce Jackson, spokeswoman for the Department of Public Aid, said that when a check with incorrect data or missing data comes in, the department has to contact the employers or the circuit clerk.

"If not, they will be returning those checks with wrong data or lack of data back to employers so they can get corrected," Jackson said.

"I don't know if they could have been more prepared for lack of data. As long as the data is correct there's not an issue. If they have the correct information they go right in and right out. So basically for me to say something could have corrected this whole issue, I can't say that, because data was the problem. They thought at the time they had informed people sufficiently," Jackson said.

Venice man faces rape charges

Conviction carries mandatory 4-15 year sentence

By Curtiss A. Hartley
Staff writer

VENICE

A Venice man was recently charged with raping a minor.

Charlie Edwards, 55, of the 1200 block of Oriole Street, allegedly used force to have sexual relations with the girl on Oct. 23.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wilson said that Edward's attorney waived a preliminary hearing earlier this week, and the case will proceed to a jury trial. He said that is a standard practice in Madison County.

Wilson said the case would be set to go to trial as early as Dec. 13, but it's not likely to go to trial that soon.

> "If he's convicted, it means he'll get a minimum of four years."
> Robert Wilson
> Assistant State's Attorney

"I don't think there's any chance of that happening on Dec. 13," he said. "These things take a while to put together."

"I could probably do it, but the defense needs to interview witnesses, and that kind of stuff. We have access to the police reports and we know who the witnesses are already," he said.

Edward's defense attorney, Jack Daugherty, was not available for comment.

Wilson said that the crime is a Class 1 Felony. That means if Edwards is found guilty, he would get a mandatory four to 15-year sentence. Wilson said probation is not an option.

"If he's convicted, it means he'll get a minimum of four years," he said.

Edwards's bond was set at $75,000. He posted $7,500 bail and was released from jail on Oct. 29. Edwards was also placed on pretrial supervision, which means that other than going to work, he is supposed to stay at home.

Edwards was also ordered to stay away from the alleged victim.

The Venice Police Department is investigating the case, but could not provide further details.

Franko honored with achievement award

GRANITE CITY

KMOX radio and KETC/Channel 9 recently announced Jonathan Franko of Granite City High School and Holly Renshaw of New Athens High School two of the 30 high school students to receive the STUDENT OF ACHIEVEMENT award.

The students were selected for their outstanding achievements in the arts, academics, sports, service to the community and leadership skills.

In order for these students to have been considered, they had to be nominated by their schools. Every high school in the Greater St. Louis region was invited to participate and nominate one student from their respective school.

This is the first year that KETC/Channel 9 is participating in STUDENT OF ACHIEVEMENT.

"While this is a new project for us, it fits in so well with our other education and outreach initiatives," said Michael Hardgrove, CEO and president of KETC/Channel 9.

Police blotter

Granite City

Police are seeking unlawful possession of controlled substance charges against a Granite City man and woman.

According to a police report, officers pulled a vehicle over driven by the man and occupied by the woman Friday evening along State Street about 10:40 p.m. The officers observed that the man was driving without a rear registration plate and with a flat tire.

As the officers searched the vehicle with the man's consent, they allegedly found a small white substance under the seat, which the reported stated was believed to be cocaine.

Burglary-Police are investigating a burglary that occurred recently at an apartment in the 2000 block of Cleveland.

According to a police report, a stereo and three speakers, an AM/FM radio cassette and a CD player, along with numerous refrigerator items, were stolen between 7:30 p.m. Friday and 2:30 a.m. Saturday.

Police arrested three Granite City men in the apartment complex from which the items were stolen. Authorities are seeking residential burglary charged against the men, ages 20, 20 and 39.

Lloyd Delano Adams, 32, of the 2100 block of Lee Avenue was charged Saturday with criminal trespass of property and battery.

According to a police report, Adams allegedly struck a 58-year-old Granite City man at his residence. The victim's nose was bleeding and he had lacerations to his arm, the police report stated.

Stanisha Khurchett Tillman, 19, of the 1000 block of Market was charged with disorderly conduct in regard to an incident that occurred recently at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

According to a police report, Khurchett allegedly became angered when she was told she could not speak with a patient that was being held by the Venice Police Department. The report stated that Khurchett screamed obscenities, alarming patients waiting to be treated. When she was told to leave the emergency room, she walked across the street and continued to scream profanities.

Michael E. Perkins, 29, was charged with offenses related to motor vehicles that stemmed from an incident that occurred early Sunday morning.

According to a police report, Perkins was driving a red Chevrolet Beretta southbound on Nameoki Road when officers observed that Perkins could have been driving a stolen vehicle because it didn't have a registration plate and had a dealership warranty on the front window.

As police pulled behind Perkins, she allegedly tried to flee, driving at high speeds through Granite City, Madison and Venice before being pulled over back in Granite City. When police tried to handcuff Perkins, a fight ensued in which police used mace to take Perkins into custody.

Venice

Aggravated battery - Venice police were expected to seek felony charges of aggravated battery against a Madison man after an incident left two officers injured Saturday afternoon.

Stanley Tillman, 40, of the 900 block of Jackson, Madison, was charged with driving without a license, illegal transportation of alcohol, two counts of resisting arrest, driving with no valid license, unlawful possession of drug paraphernalia and driving an uninsured motor vehicle.

Police Chief James Newsome said officers had an appointment with the Madison County State's Attorney's office Monday afternoon to discuss felony charges in the incident.

According to reports, an officer watching traffic along Fourth Street in the Mobile service station lot when a car came in and the owner started to fill it up.

The man, later identified as Tillman, walked over to the officer and reportedly said "Am I cool, am I cool officer or what," then returned to his car.

The officer noticed the car had an expired registration. When he informed the driver, he said it was his girlfriend's car. He also said he did not have his license, and moved as if to get his wallet, pushed the officer and fled.

Venice officers attempted to place him under arrest, but the man allegedly told them he was high on drugs and fought with them.

Both Venice officers and the suspect were injured. All three were treated and released at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Newsome said he was not sure when the officers would be able to return to duty.

As of Monday, Tillman remained in police custody.

Traffic charges - Three cars, including a Venice police car, were severely damaged in an incident Sunday afternoon.

Christopher M. Mandina, 25, of the 2000 block of Troy, Madison, was charged with fleeing police, improper lane usage and disobeying a stop sign by Venice police and additional charges may be filed by Madison police.

He had allegedly tried to tell police that his vehicle had been stolen, but later recanted.

According to reports, at about 1:15 p.m. Sunday, an officer saw a white sports utility vehicle run a stoplight at Broadway and Klein. The officer attempted to catch the vehicle, which left the scene at a very high rate of speed.

During the chase, the officer "bottomed out" his car coming out of an alley, disabling it.

Madison police reported the suspect vehicle being involved in an accident in the 600 block of McCambridge a short time later.

Both vehicles involved in the crash were reportedly totaled, but no further information was available.

Madison

Drug charges - A Collinsville man faces drug possession and other charges after being stopped in Madison early Monday.

Martin W. Pace, 29, of the 70 block of East Clay, Collinsville, was charged with failure to signal, driving with a suspended license and operating an uninsured motor vehicle after being stopped by Madison officer in the 1600 block Third Street early Monday mornin.

Charges of unlawful possession of controlled substance may be fi pending lab analysis of what pol believe is crack cocaine found in Pace's car.

According to reports, an offier observed Pace's purple Doge Neon pull away from the curb vthout signaling in the 1600 bloc of Third Street, a known drug purcasing location.

After placing Pace under arest, police found suspected cack cocaine under the driver's sei of his car.

Virginia D. Puff, 28, of the 2800 block of Edwards, Granite City, was charged with illegal possession of drug paraphernalia and illegal possession of a hypodermic needle after being arrested on an outstanding warrant Saturday.

According to reports, an officer observed Puff walking in the 400 block of Madison Avenue. The officer stopped Puff, who was wanted on a Madison County charge of illegal possession of a controlled substance. Police found a crack pipe and syringe near were she was standing when officers first spotted her.

Customers who sign up for the CheckFree service can arrange to make their electronic payments at their convenience or have their payments made automatically. On a designated date each month, the bank or credit union will deduct the payment from the customer's account and transfer it electronically to Illinois Power.

An electronic bill statement will be sent each month, so customers will have a record of the amount paid, payment date, and how much electricity and natural gas was used. The bank statement will show the payment just as it lists checks, so customers will have a record showing payment.

"CheckFree is a convenient way for customers to pay their monthly power bill as well as other monthly bills," said Robert Reynolds, vice president of Customer Solutions for Illinois Power.

Customer can conveniently sign up for the CheckFree service by logging onto https://www.mybills.com/ebill. and following the instructions for enrollment. CheckFree saves time and worry because customers never write a check for their power bill again.

Zoning Committee, that the facility would encompass an area of about a 35,000-square-feet at a cost of about $3.5 million. He said the facility would be complete with a gymnasium, handball and racquetball courts; equipped with locker rooms for men, women boys and girls and have administrative offices located in the center of the building. Other features, he said, would include a pool, an aquatic area and multipurpose rooms to be used for meetings and baby-sitting.

Papa also said that the facility would be constructed in a way that would be completely compatible to the surrounding neighborhood, would be located as far away from residential areas as possible, would have a greenspace area so that run-off water or flooding would not present a problem and would have a berm to offer some protection for residents.

Don't Fall Prey To Y2K!

To help you prepare for the Year 2000, please refer to the following checklist:
- Keep copies of financial records, especially for the last few months of 1999.
- Be on guard against Y2K scams. Protect your personal information, including your bank account, credit card and Social Security number.
- Make prudent preparations. If you withdraw money, make reasonable decisions. Don't put yourself at risk of being robbed or losing valuable interest payments.
- Educate yourself about Y2K. Contact our Year 2000 coordinator, Gina Lotter, at (618) 635-2234, if you have any questions about our bank's ability to continue to provide you with financial services past the year 2000.

Kids can overcome negative peer pressure if guided

A recent survey of about 900 suburban middle and high school students documented some frightening aspects of adolescent life.

An overwhelming majority of these Parkway School District students - 62 percent - admitted they cannot resist negative peer pressure. Even more - 75 percent - said they have no adult role models and their parents are not involved in their life at school.

Many parents have no realistic idea of how powerful the tide of peer influence is. Those who are aware often feel helpless about their ability to protect their children.

Here are some ways you can help your child survive these destructive forces:

- Help your child select friends at an early age.

The younger your child, the more opportunities you have to control the group of children he or she will interact with. Use your power to control car pools, schedule social time and eliminate problems.

- Minimize your child's contact with troublesome peers.

Parents of young children may carefully select extracurricular activities and make school requests to keep contact at a minimum. Parents may directly forbid middle and high school age children from associating with specific peers.

- Discourage unhealthy friendships.

As your child grows, discuss point out and clarify the advantages and disadvantages of associating with certain children.

- Get to know your child's friends.

Dennis O'Brien

FAMILY MATTERS

Open your home to them on a casual, drop-in basis and encourage your child to invite them over frequently. Provide snacks, show interest and make conversation.

- Promote friendships with healthy peers.

Suggest things your child can do to socialize with them. Offer to drive, host events or share responsibility with their parents.

- Help your child associate with positive peers and adults in situations outside of school.

Encourage your child to participate in service activities and youth programs sponsored by a religious organization, for example.

- Get to know the parents of your child's friends.

Networking with parents you trust may help you learn more about other children and their parents. Evaluate their consistency in parenting, values and willingness to communicate honestly.

- Be stern if your child shows a proximity to drugs and alcohol.

Given the enormous amount of pressure peers put on one another, a child who socializes with others who party inevitably will begin to party. To counter this pressure, parents must provide convincing incentives to keep their children out of the proximity of trouble.

- Use a curfew and firm consequences to guide your child during the teenage years.

Being in the wrong place, staying out too late or hanging out with the wrong crowd can put your child in jeopardy. Declare certain children off limits and establish consequences for associating with them.

- Maintain your standards in the face of resistance.

If you are consistent, it will become impractical for your child to associate with certain children.

- Don't fall into denial.

Your child will behave appropriately only if you diligently work to extend the protective boundaries of your family's structure and values into the toxic peer culture waiting to swamp your child at critical moments.

Officials cite shortage of election judges appointed for each political party in each precinct.

St. Clair County Clerk Bob Delaney said he has spoken to principals of the county's high schools, and they believe they will have quite a few interested seniors.

O'Fallon Township High School may be able to provide some 30 students as poll workers.

"We will try to place them as close to home as possible," said Delaney. Half days are also being considered. Students could fill their hours after school helping with the evening rush.

Student judges will be placed with experienced judges who can aid and supervise them.

"This will minimize or eliminate any anxiety on the part of the existing judges that they are being replaced," said James Lewis, executive director of East St. Louis' Board of Election Commissioners.

Lewis said the chance to actually participate in the election procedure will be motivating for students.

"It's an educational process. It will show them not only the rights, but the responsibilities of citizenship," Lewis said.

"We decided to do a joint effort," said Karen E. Grace with the St. Louis county Board of Elections. Metro East and St. Louis area election officials gathered to push for more judges.

A 1994 Missouri statute allows for the involvement of Missouri Youth Election Participants. Teens between 15 and 18 who are currently in school can work under the direction of election judges.

"They've been very helpful to us in many of the jurisdictions," said Missouri Secretary of State Rebecca Cook.

Missouri also launched the New Millennium Project to determine why voter turnout is so low among young people.

"We are seeking people who would like to participate in the democratic process," said Forrest V. (Woody) Lange, Democrat coordinator of Judges for the Board of Election Commissioners for the city of St. Louis.

Michaelson said, "The World War II generation of poll workers-the people who have been the backbone of the election process for the last 40 years-are now retiring and they have to be replaced by people just as competent and just as dedicated."

ACS holds 23rd annual Smokeout

schools and community groups nationwide will participate in the event. The Smokeout will provide an opportunity for smokers and users of smokeless tobacco to not only kick the habit, but learn about the dangers of lighting up.

"If we can help them make it for 24 hours without using tobacco, we hope they will be motivated to quit permanently. If we can help our youth understand the importance of never starting to smoke, we truly have saved lives,'' said Becky Stone, communication chairman of the Quad City unit of the American Cancer Society.

Nineteen percent out of an estimated 8,930,000 smokers participated in the Smokeout last year. Of the 19 percent, about half of that percentage said they were smoking less or had quit, which means about 890,000 people are well on their way to healthier, smoke-free lives.

In addition, Stone said, as times change and the public's understanding of the addictive cycle of nicotine increases, the American Cancer Society will educate children on the subject to prevent them from smoking. More than 80 percent of current smokers began smoking before they were 18-years-old.

According to Stone, the Smokeout can be attributed to an event that occurred in 1971, when businessman Arthur Mullaney asked people in Randolph, Mass. to give up cigarettes for a day and donate the money they would have spent on the cigarettes to a high school scholarship fun.

In 1976, the California Division of the American Cancer Society got on the bandwagon and got nearly one million of the state's five million smokers to quit for the day during what was called the Great American Smokeout. A year later the American Cancer Society hosted the first nationwide Smokeout, starting a tradition that has possibly saved millions of lives.

Newsboys hit corners Thursday

Celebrity Corner, busily hawking newspapers.

There will be other "celebrity corners" of interest this year, including:

Gravois Road and Lindbergh Boulevard. Employees of Sunset Ford will blanket the intersection, with a variety of special giveaways. Also, former St. Louis Cardinals players Todd Worrell, Ricky Horton and Bob Forsch will be on hand to sign autographs for those who make an Old Newsboys Day donation. Randy Karaker, of KMOX Radio, will do live broadcasts during the morning. The Old Newsboys Day special edition also will be available all weekend at Sunset Ford.

Hanley Road and Forsyth Avenue. KTRS Radio (550-AM) personalities Dan Dierdorf, Wendy Weise, Donn Johnson and Kevin Slaten will be broadcasting their morning show live from 6 to 10 a.m. from the Library Ltd. bookstore, as well as taking stints selling papers outside. Continuing, Paul Harris will broadcast from Library Ltd. from 10 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. KTRS personality George Noory also will be selling papers.

West Port Plaza. KTRS Radio employees will be selling newspapers throughout the day, along with the Maryland Heights Chamber of Commerce.

Brentwood Boulevard and Manchester Road. WIL-FM Radio (92.3) personality Mark Langston and mascot, Willie the Cow, will be selling Old Newsboys Day editions.

Hanley and Manchester roads. KHITS Radio (96.3-FM) personalities John Cooper and Mark Klose will be hawking newspapers.

Murdoch Avenue and Big Bend Boulevard. KFNS Radio (590-AM) personalities Bob Ramsey, Jay Randolph Jr., Frank Cusumano, and Andy Van Slyke will be selling papers and providing live reports during the morning.

Kingshighway and Watson Street at Lindenwood University. Members of the St. Louis Swarm and Missouri River Otters will be on hand.

In addition, Lou Brock will be autographing baseballs at Union Station starting at noon for those who make a $20 donation to the Old Newsboys Day fund for children's charities.

The first event of the Old Newsboys Day campaign begins tonight outside the Kiel Center following a concert by the Backstreet Boys, as volunteers will be selling Old Newsboys Day editions. It's fitting that the event kicks off after the Backstreet Boys event, since the children of St. Louis named the group their favorite in the Wendy's Children's Choice Awards poll.

The Old Newsboys Day project has grown so much that the military is being called to lend a hand. Members of the Army and Air National and Employee Support for the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) will help deliver papers and provide support throughout the day.

Old Newsboys Day originated in 1957 by Duncan Bauman, former publisher of the defunct St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The Suburban Journals assumed stewardship of the program in 1988. Since the beginning, Old Newsboys Day has raised more than $6.6 million for local children's charities.

Granite City senior Jessica Wallace will be the big offensive threat for the Warriors.

Warriors eager for tipoff

Granite City hopes to build off last year's improvement

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The Granite City basketball team hopes to continue a recent trend.

Last year, the Warriors landed at 13-14, erasing the memories of a 2-23 campaign in 1997-98 .

"It was definitely a season we could build on," Granite City coach John Moad said. "It gave the girls a lot of confidence in themselves and what we were trying to accomplish."

This season, the Warriors have to deal with the loss of four key seniors — Debra Aaron, Jan Shanafelt, Liz Dittman and Janelle Hankes.

"Our four seniors gave us a lot of leadership," Moad said. "They were leaders in the locker room as well as on the court. Liz and Janelle stood out because of their work ethic. Jan was our point guard and had the ball in her hands most of the time. She was our vocal leader and had a lot of energy.

"Losing Debra takes 14 points and nine rebounds per game out of our lineup, and that's tough to replace. She had a great year for us."

But all is not lost. The Warriors return a roster flush with talent to take on the Southwestern Conference, including a shooting star who will be the focal point of the offense.

"We start with Jessica Wallace," Moad said. "To have a player of that caliber is good for the program. She has averaged over 10 points per game her whole career, and we would like to see her get 15-17 points per game this year. She is going to be our go-to person, and she will get a lot of shots. Other teams know that, and it isn't going to be easy. But we have enough good players around her to get her some shots."

> "If we all stick together and stay on the same page, we should have some success."
> John Moad
> Granite City coach

The rest of the top class will fill in around the edges to help team cohesiveness.

"We have a good group of seniors this year, with Wallace, Sara Luehmann, Tabby Duff, Tonya Biggs and Della Moore," Moad said. "They will give us the leadership that last year's seniors gave us. They have been with me for four years now, they know their roles, and they are a big part of the team, whether they are starting or coming off of the bench.

"Tabby has to pick up some of the slack for losing Debra, but we don't expect her to go inside and bang too much. Sara Luehmann will have to do some of the banging down low. We don't have a lot of size, and those two will have to provide it."

Granite shouldn't have much trouble putting points on the board.

"We have a lot of good shooters," Moad said. "(Juniors) Ashley Bogovich and Christina Withers will supply some offense. (Junior) Jessica Vasiloff will give us minutes inside. Leighann Worthen is another junior who gives us some time at guard.

"The sophomore class is very talented. Erin Tyler will be our starting point guard. It looks like Kelli Mitchell will start at shooting guard. She handles the ball and shoots very well. With them on the court, we have some real talent. Sarah Kuehnel is real aggressive and good inside. Meghan Coughlin is 6-foot-1, but she will be out for a couple of weeks after having knee surgery. We hope she can make a contribution by the end of the year."

Last year's improvement has translated into enthusiasm for this year.

"The attitude of the girls is wonderful this year," Moad said. "They work hard and all of them get along. It will help us a lot. If we all stick together and stay on the same page, we should have some success. We win or lose as a team, and if we can get them to play as a team, we'll have a lot of fun. Practices have been harder. We have been stressing hard work and have really been getting in good shape.

"Offensively we can do a lot of things. With five seniors, we may look experienced, but our starting backcourt is sophomores. We have a young team, and that bodes well for the future. But we are ready for this season to start."

It began on Monday, with the first of five games in the Alton Tournament.

"Last year we went 4-1 in the tournament, and it really gave us a jump-start to the season," Moad said. "It really helped our confidence. We use this tournament as a springboard to get us started. It makes the girls think that all of this hard work is worth it.

"If we can get some early wins we can be successful. Our goal is to win a regional game, and then another. It has been a few years since we did that, but we believe we have the team to do it this year."

Madison emphasizes sportsmanship, fun

Independent IHSA Class A school in building process

GIRLS BASKETBALL

It's time for the girls to drive the lane and charge to the hoop at Madison High School.

The Independent IHSA Class A small school returns from a 6-12 1998-99 campaign.

"Last season went so-so," Madison girls basketball coach and athletic director Don Smith said. "We had some good games and some bad games. We are in a building process with girls basketball."

Madison will have a few building blocks to insert in their hoops construction this winter.

"Paige London (5-foot-11 center) and Nakeisha Anderson (5-10 forward) are our two returning starters," Smith said. "They are both juniors. Kenyota Johnson is a forward, she played some for us last year. LaRonda Brookfield is a guard. She played a lot for us last year off of the bench.

"That's the nucleus of our varsity team right now. We are young. Being a small school, we have to go with what we have."

The season opened Tuesday when Madison played in the first round of the Dupo Preseason Tournament against the host school.

Expectations are being kept at reasonable levels in Madison.

"We'll have to wait and see," Smith said. "It's still very early in the season. We'll have to wait and see if they play as a team. We usually start kind of slow and then we progress as the season goes along. My assistant coach, Karren Missey, does a lot of work and helps us out. Mike Williams is the freshman coach and an assistant with varsity, so he helps us out a lot.

"We are not a basketball powerhouse. We want the girls to concentrate on sportsmanship and having fun. We stress good conduct on and off the court. That's what we expect out of them, and that's what they give us."

ALL-JOURNAL BOYS SOCCER

Granite City's lion has reason to sound off.

Though he was snubbed for all-state consideration in Chicago, Justin Roehr has been named the JournalsNewspapers of Southern Illinois' Goalkeeper of the Year.

The 6-foot-1, 206-pound senior posted 13 shutouts in 1999 but waves off the accomplishment.

"The shutouts don't matter," Roehr said. "I think I played pretty well and kept us in some low-scoring games. I stopped a lot of shots, but the team played well in front of me."

At no point did the big keeper roar louder than in the Pepsi Cola/Granite City High School Tournament of Champions, held Oct. 4-9.

The Warriors stormed through the week of round-robin games and landed in the semifinal against St. Charles County (Mo.) powerhouse Francis Howell North.

A night of constant rain had turned the pitch to soup. But sneaker-deep in mud, Roehr stood tall. His heroics kept the game close -tied at 1-1 - open-

Edwardsville junior Luke Kreamalmeyer led the Tigers to the IHSA Class AA sectional and finished with 17 goals.

Kreamalmeyer displays knack for scoring goals

Junior tallied 17 times to lead Tigers to conference, sectional crowns

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

ALL-JOURNAL BOYS SOCCER

Luke Kreamalmeyer speaks softly, but has a killer instinct when he is around an opponent's goal.

Of the field, Kreamalmeyer is a person of few words when talking about his play for the Edwardsville High soccer team this past fall.

But on the field, he let his playing do the talking as he scored 17 goals to lead the Tigers to a 22-4-1 record, the Southwestern Conference championship and the IHSA Class AA sectional title.

Just a junior, Kreamalmeyer already has Edwardsville's career goals mark with 33.

Metro East coaches voted him the Soccer Player of the Year for the Journal Newspapers of Southern Illinois.

"The awards that he has been given up to this point as a junior have really been phenomenal," Edwardsville coach Mark Schwarzkopf said. "There are just not too many players that receive the accolades and recognition he has up to this point. He has done that both as a freshman and as a sophomore.

"The thing I admire most about him, probably, is the way he receives it. Obviously, he is honored by it but at the same time he understands that without the complement of players we have in our program, he certainly would not be able to achieve such recognition."

Last year, Kreamalmeyer was named all-sectional.

This year, he garnered all-state recognition and was named the No. 1 player in the region, which gives him a shot to be named to the all-Midwest team.

Kreamalmeyer shrugs off the awards and praises his teammates.

"I think I had a good season. I started off kind of slow but then started scoring some goals and I just kept on scoring," Kreamalmeyer said. "A lot of my teammates gave me the ball and gave me the opportunity to get some good chances."

Kreamalmeyer does have the ability to create scoring chances by being in the right place and the right time.

"I just try to anticipate and go toward where I think the ball is going to be," Kreamalmeyer said.

Schwarzkopf added, "I think his placement on serves from the flank are just instinctive, but that has come from a process of kind of a consistency of knowing where the serve is going to be and even the spin on the ball, he can incorporate into a position to finish. A lot of times, his placement is even in advance of our attack."

Venice team reaches playoffs in 1st year of existence

Junior Pee Wees post 5-3-1 mark despite players' lack of experience

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

JUNIOR FOOTBALL

The future of Madison County football got a jump-start this autumn.

The Venice Junior Pee Wee team went 5-3-1 and made the Tri-County Football League playoffs in its first year of existence.

"The season went great," Venice coach Vincent Ballantine said. "In our first game of the year, the kids hadn't really gotten used to the equipment yet. We had only had the equipment for a day or two before the game. We lost that game 31-0 to Cahokia. We lost the second game 13-0 to Dupo. But once they got used to the gear, we got into it. We won four straight games, lost one, won one, and then tied.

"For a team with only one guy who had played organized football before, and 17 who hadn't, I really have to tip my hat to them for trying hard and doing the best they could. There were a lot of good athletes on the team."

Venice got a big hand up from a young group who won despite lack of experience.

"Randy McKire Jr. was our quarterback, and he did a great job," Ballantine said. "DeMarrea Williams played running back. Cleotha Spearman Jr. was our fullback and defensive lineman. Sheldon Crawford played offensive tackle and defensive end. LaMon Gregory played offensive line and linebacker.

"Those are really our top guys this year. They served as our captains and held the team together. But we had other guys who have played just as well."

Saturday the Pee Wees' season ended with a 14-6 loss to Cahokia.

"In the early part of the game we did the things we needed to do, and they were only ahead 6-0 through the first quarter," Ballantine said. "Our starting quarterback got hurt in the second quarter. We had to use two running backs, Ahmad Nearly and Larry Smith, at quarterback. That made us an offense that had to use a lot of quarterback keepers and couldn't use our passing plays. We scored in the second quarter, but they were a tough team. They went 8-1 in the regular season."

The tough loss won't sour the young players on future gridiron action.

"It was an exclient season," Ballantine said. "I tip my hat to the guys. The coaching staff was together for the first time. To make the playoffs in the first year is tough, and they deserve a lot of credit for accomplishing that."

Roehr bounced back after suffering injury

ing the door for David Hartwick's game-winner in overtime.

Though the Warriors lost the title game 1-0 to Creve Coeur (Mo.) Chaminade, Roehr was dominant, surrendering only a penalty-shot goal to the Red Devils.

"His big games were Francis Howell North, to get us to advance in the Tournament of Champions, and Chaminade," Granite City coach Gene Baker said. "We lose a tough one, 1-0 on a penalty kick, and (Creve Coeur, Mo.) DeSmet just got beaten 4-0 by them. Justin actually shut out (Florissant, Mo.) Aquinas-Mercy. The one goal they scored wasn't off of him. He had great games against (Richmond heights, Mo.) CBC and (Kirkwood, mo.) Vianney."

Returning from a junior season entirely lost to knee surgery, Roehr was the key cog in a wheel that rolled to 16-8-2 and an IHSA Class AA sectional finals appearance.

"Justin is just a quality human being," Baker said. "I think he leads his life pretty religiously, that is very important to him. I would hope that he goes on in soccer. It's going to be totally up to him.

"I am very happy for him, and I think he deserves the recognition. The goalkeeper at Edwardsville is a very fine keeper. But I think in our defense, Justin played a much more needed role. He has quickness, size and one-on-one shot-stopping ability. Those are his fortes."

"I thought we had a pretty good year," Roehr said. "As a team, everyone played well. We had some bad games, and unfortunately, the Edwardsville game (a 2-0 loss in the sectional finals) was one of them. But we had a good year."

Tigers received big lift from Kreamalmeyer

Kreamalmeyer's instinct for the game comes from years of experience. He started playing at age 5 and now plays virtually year round.

Now that the high school season is completed, Kreamalmeyer starts the process of seeking a spot on the state Olympic Develop Program squad.

COLA Spending Reduced $35 Billion In new CBO Report

American seniors depending on annual Cost-Of-Living Adjustments won't have much to look forward to over the next decade. In the latest economic projections released by the Congressional Budget Office, revised estimates of Social Security COLA spending are heading downward - a whopping $35 billion over the next decade.

"Depending on the year, the revised estimates account for up to 19 percent of the additional annual surplus. For the year 2000, the CBO revised projected COLA spending downward by $1 billion, costing each Social Security recipient about $22.70 the following year. This is the same additional surplus that Congress wants to use to fund tax cuts and other spending," said Michael Zabko, executive director of TREA Senior Citizens League.

The lower COLA projections come over the same period of time when health care costs are expected to more than double. In 1998, retirees saw the costs of their supplemental or Medigap premiums rose more that 8.5 percent and spending on prescription drugs, which Medicare does not cover, rose an astounding 16 percent. Double-digit increases are expected for both again this year. "Currently, the average Social Security recipient spends about $2,508 annually in out-of-pocket medical costs, an average of about 20 percent of their yearly income," Zabko said. "Recipients below the poverty level pay, on average, about 35 percent of their income on out-of-pocket costs."

COLAs of Social Security recipients are tied to the Consumer Price Index for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers, the CPI-W, which does not accurately reflect the changes in price for pharmaceuticals and health care costs. CPI-W specifically excludes the "market basket" of those receiving pension income like Social Security. Younger, working consumers often have employer-provided health insurance and do not use prescription drugs as frequently as seniors do.

However, Social Security recipients may receive higher COLAs that more fairly reflect rising costs of prescription drugs and health care under two different bills recently introduced in the House by Rep. Bernie Sanders (I-At-Large-VT) and in the Senate by Sen. Rod Grams (R-MN). The House legislation would use a more accurate CPI, known as the CPI for Elderly Consumers, to determine the Social Security COLA. The CPI-E gives greater "weight" or emphasis to health care and prescription drug costs.

Over the past 15 years for which data is available, it was found that the prices of goods bought by seniors rose about 6 percentage points more quickly than the prices of goods bought by the general public. The CPI-E also found that medical costs rose 156 percent over the 15-year period, the average retiree would have received about $4,800 more in benefits using the CPI-E," Zabko said. "This is an amount far closer to the actual cost-of-living increases experienced by older Americans."

The Senate legislation known at the "Fair Cost-of-Living Adjustment for Seniors Act of 1999" would create a Consumer Price Index Review Committee which would study and implement a plan to expand and improve the methods used to determine the current CPI-E. With Congressional approval, this improved CPI-E would then be used as the index for Social Security COLAs.

"We urge seniors to contact their Members of Congress to support legislation which would ensure more fair Social Security COLAs by indexing the COLA to the CPI-E, the Consumer Price Index for Elderly Consumers," Zabko said.

The Congressional Budget Office report confirms that unless changes are made to the way COLAs are calculated, seniors will continue to see their COLA buying power drastically erode while their health care costs skyrocket.

More seniors getting wired to the 'net

Estimated that one in ten seniors owns a computer, 25% on the web

They're not just for young nerds anymore.

It's estimated that one in 10 seniors owns a home computer, and 25 percent of them are on-line.

"Whether they're doing their own taxes, investing on-line or chatting about financial topics on the Web, older Americans are finding computers, and the Internet not only fun but financially rewarding," says Sandra Phillips, an educational technology specialist at the College of Financial Planning, a division of the National Endowment for Financial Education.

For those older people who haven't bought a personal computer or have one but haven't used it yet, Phillips offers several ideas about how those limited retirement dollars.

· Budget your money. Among the most popular financial software programs are ones that balance your checkbook and help you track the inflows and outflows of your money. Some programs even let you conduct banking (the number of banks using this is still limited) or write checks electronically.

· Do your taxes. "If you can fill out your taxes on a 1040EZ form, don't bother with a computer tax program," says Phillips. "But if you itemize, consider one of the several good tax programs."

Not only will it save you time if you've been calculating by hand up to now, but it will save you money if you've been having someone do your taxes for you. But Phillips cautions that these programs are not substitutes for good tax planning. A financial planner or other tax planner can show you ways to plan your finances well before April 15 to save taxes. A tax software program simply crunches the numbers after the fact.

> "Whether they're doing their own taxes, investing on-line or chatting about financial topics on the Web, older Americans are finding computers, and the Internet not only fun but financially rewarding."
> Sandra Phillips
> Educational technology specialist

· Plan your retirement. On the market are software programs that can help you estimate how much money you'll need to comfortably live out your retirement with the standard of living you desire or show you how quickly your money will run out if you spend too much.

The program will suggest ways to build a retirement portfolio that will meet your goals or show you how to withdraw the right amount of money from your retirement plan so that you don't accidentally trip over one of the many tax regulations.

As with the tax software, Phillips recommends that you don't rely entirely on this software for making your retirement plans, especially if your estate is complex. There are many estate planning, insurance and investment issues that the software doesn't adviser can address. But the software provides a good starting point and can be very educational.

· Visit the Web. The World Wide Web resembles a large city with millions of electronic street addresses and has many sites of financial interest to seniors. Among them are the American Association of Retired Persons sites designed specifically for the newly widowed, sites about Medicare and Social Security and countless investment sites.

· Chat on the Web. Through commercial on-line services, seniors have access to "chat rooms," or forums where they can talk with others on any number of topics, including finances. Some forums even have electronic libraries with articles on issues such as Social Security.

· Invest on the Web. The Internet is a vast storehouse of information about investments you may want to make for your retirement portfolio. Mutual fund companies have Web sites; there are numerous investor forums; and you can even trade stocks on the Internet.

Terrance Stamp is Dave Wilson, a British ex-con, in Artisan Entertainment's "The Limey."

'The Limey' offers weird hybrid of action, art films

Movie is extreme version of broken chronology

By Brian Kaller
Staff writer

We first see Wilson (Terence Stamp) on a plane to America, after receiving word that his daughter is dead. Wilson is a sad and aging career criminal, the "limey" (slang for Englishman) of the title. He had proudly watched her grow up "in increments" while in and out of prison, and had not seen her since she went to Southern California seeking fame.

The newspaper clipping said she drove off a cliff, and that police suspected drugs or suicide. Wilson believes there is more to the story, and that his daughter was murdered.

With the help of his daughter's friends, a Mexican ex-con (Dave Guzman) and her acting coach (Lesley Ann Warren), Wilson learns as much as he can about his daughter's last days. He suspects her boyfriend Terry Valentine (Peter Fonda), a wealthy record producer who is already on his next teenage girlfriend.

With no plan but revenge, the uneducated but canny Wilson methodically tracks down Valentine's underworld ties and begins to piece together the truth.

A brief outline of the plot - Wilson taking out henchmen one by one until going mano-a-mano with Valentine at the climax - sounds like any Charles Bronson or Steven Seagal movie.

But "The Limey" is not a mediocre shoot-'em-up – it is a strange and remarkable film. It's like someone took an old action script and tried to make an art movie out of it, ending up with a weird hybrid animal.

Instead of filming this story in a straightforward way, director Steven Soderbergh puts it together as one would assemble a jigsaw puzzle: scenes appear out of sequence, bits of dialogue are heard before their context, slow-motion sequences are repeated throughout.

It is a more extreme version of the broken chronology Soderbergh used in his last movie, the superb "Out of Sight," (also about an aging career criminal), or that Quentin Tarantino has used in films like "Pulp Fiction."

Even scenes we've seen in a hundred other movies - Wilson gunning down drug dealers or throwing a henchman off a balcony - are seen from a distance and partly left to our imagination.

Most interesting are the flashbacks to Wilson and his daughter - instead of using another actor to play a young Terence Stamp, Soderbergh inserts footage from one of Stamp's first movies, Ken Loach's 1967 film "Poor Cow."

Soderbergh, one of the most interesting and under-appreciated directors in America, began his career ten years ago with "Sex, Lies and Videotape," a basement-budget film which rose to international acclaim in the manner of "The Blair Witch Project" this year. However, his highly experimental films since then have received mixed reviews and relentless obscurity.

But Soderbergh can be brilliant - in 1993, he directed the lovely "King of the Hill," (no relation to the TV series), a story of St. Louis in the 1930s, and a movie you really should seek out.

> Instead of filming this story in a straightforward way, director Steven Soderbergh puts it together as one would assemble a jigsaw puzzle: scenes appear out of sequence, bits of dialogue are heard before their context, slow-motion sequences are repeated throughout.

Unfortunately, experiments don't always work, and his avant-garde approach becomes overdone and distracting at certain points.

But while "The Limey" is not as impressive as "Out of Sight" or "King of the Hill," it is a fascinating film, and well worth a look.

Burden of Alzheimer's hard for loving families to bear

By Allison Woodworth
Staff writer

In her younger days, Margaret Nance was known throughout her Kentucky hometown as a caring, generous person who spent her Sunday mornings with senior citizens at the local nursing home teaching Sunday school and playing records.

She also made each of her grandchildren feel special.

At 93 and in the late stages of Alzheimer's Disease, Nance now resides with her granddaughter Dianne Hamlet of Florissant.

Nance is just one of 4 million Americans, one of 60,000 in the St. Louis area, suffering from Alzheimer's Disease, according to the Alzheimer's Association.

More than 70 percent of Alzheimer's sufferers are cared for at home rather than nursing homes. In Missouri alone, 521,950 "informal" or family caregivers spend 485.8 million hours annually supporting Alzheimer's sufferers, according to the Alzheimer's Association.

Caring for her grandmother at home meant that Hamlet, 56, had to quit her job as a nurse and spend her life caring for the woman who once cared for her.

"She's always been my number one cheerleader. I couldn't sleep at night if she was in a nursing home. So I quit my job. We eat beans a lot and a lot more ground beef. But I know my grandmother would do it for me. It's just the right thing to do," Hamlet said recently.

Nance was diagnosed with Alzheimer's Disease about five years ago, though she may have been in the early stages before that, Hamlet said.

"Some neighbors called and told my father that she had walked to the grocery store at 11 p.m. in her nightgown. She had always been so on top of everything, so we knew something was wrong," Hamlet said.

Since then, Nance lived with various family members in Kentucky and finally moved in with Hamlet about 13 months ago.

Although Hamlet is quick to point out that "there's no such thing as a typical day" when caring for someone with Alzheimer's Disease, she does have a basic daily routine.

"It's very important to have a routine," she said. "It gives them security. You need to be structured, yet totally flexible, too. She's never the same two days in a row."

Nance's day begins at 10 a.m. when Hamlet wakes her and helps her get up and dress. From that point on, Hamlet helps Nance with everything from going to the bathroom to swallowing her medications.

Hamlet works diligently to preserve the thin threads of Nance's memory. Each day, they pore over a family photograph album and watch a videotape of family members to remind Nance who each person is. Though somewhat confused, Nance has held onto some memories.

"Some days she thinks I'm her sister Pauline. Other days she thinks I'm her first grandchild. Both are in good standing, so I know I've got a good spot," Hamlet said.

Providing enough exercise for Nance, who suffers from osteoporosis and is recovering from a recent illness, is another challenge. Two or three times daily, Hamlet helps Nance walk inside the house.

Nance also exercises her wrists and shoulders by folding washcloths and towels.

"She also puts silverware on the table. It can take 15 minutes to put the six forks, knives and spoons out. Sometimes she gets the napkins, sometimes she dries dishes," Hamlet said.

"She needs to feel important, like she's playing a role in the home."

Hamlet takes Nance for a ride in the car on nice days and lets her sit on a bench while she shops at the grocery store to provide a change of pace.

"She can sit at the grocery store and smile at people, or we go get an ice cream cone," Hamlet said.

Although Hamlet spends the most time with Nance, her family also helps.

"I don't know how anyone does this all by themselves. It's not that physically demanding, it's more of a reclusive type of life, and I've always been a real outgoing person," she said.

"The worst part is that she can't communicate."

Hamlet recommends that anyone taking on the care of an Alzheimer's sufferer call the St. Louis Alzheimer's Association at (800) 980-9080.

"Don't be ashamed to call the help line. They can assist in find-

New SIUE residence hall gets name

Board of Trustees gives approval to "Bluff Hall"

By Deborah L. Bates
Staff writer

METRO EAST

SIUE Board of Trustees gave approval Thursday to making "Bluff Hall" the official name of Residence Hall III on the SIUE campus.

The existing residence halls at Southern Illinois University Edwardsville are named Woodland Hall and Prairie Hall.

"They all tie in to the topography of the area," SIUE Chancellor David Werner said.

The third residence hall should be constructed by the fall of 2001. The University Planning and Budget Council recommended the name.

An estimate of $400,000 in funding also was approved for construction of the School of Nursing in Springfield. The board also authorized officials to negotiate for land acquisition in proximity to the SIU School of Medicine to construct the nursing school facility. Land acquisition costs are not yet determined.

When SIUE acquired the nursing program from the University of Illinois-Springfield, it agreed to move the nursing program from the U of I campus.

The roof of Lovejoy Library at SIUE will be replaced. The board approved $150,000 of deferred maintenance funding for the project. Werner said the roof has developed leaks that the school attempted to repair, but the entire roof now needs to be replaced. The current roof will be removed and a new roof installed. The new roof is planned to be complete in early summer.

The board also approved a $160,000 budget for the resurfacing of SIUE tennis courts that are cracked. The six on-campus courts were constructed in 1979 and have been resealed twice but now need complete resurfacing. They are slippery in some spots and low in other spots, which retain water and dirt. The project is planned to begin in late spring and be ready by fall semester 2000.

SIU-Carbondale requested approval of a plan for a $25-per-semester technology fee that would be paid by all full-time students at SIUC. The board moved to table the item until the December board meeting.

School plants garden in memory of student

By Mary Shapiro
Staff writer

The spirit of Elizabeth "Beth" Elliott will always bloom in the hearts of those who loved her.

Now a garden reflecting Beth's love of life will bloom as well.

Beth was killed last spring in an automobile accident, just days before she was to graduate from Parkway Central High School. She was 18.

A garden dedicated to her memory is to be dedicated at 10:30 a.m. Saturday next to the music wing at the school, 369 N. Woods Mill Road in Chesterfield, Mo.

The dedication is open to everyone, school officials said. It will be followed by a reception.

Terri Mullins, an English teacher at the school, said students, staff members, parents, Girl Scouts and others donated funds and labor to create the garden.

"It's an L-shaped garden, with a kidney-shaped front, in a corner of the campus on the south side of the building near the facilities department," Mullins said.

"It has five white pines, a burning bush, hydrangeas and 15 butterfly bushes," Mullins said. "The butterfly became a symbol for Beth's life."

Those who helped created the garden wanted "a living memorial" for Beth.

"We wanted to create a spot not far from the (school's) music area," Mullins said. "She was always very involved in music, playing in the band and being a drum majorette. This will be a place where music students can practice or relax after rehearsal- sort of a retreat spot."

Also in the garden will be two granite benches, limestone stepping stones - as well as a stained-glass one, shaped like a butterfly - and three large granite rocks, one with a flat surface to hold a bronze plaque.

The stained-glass stepping stone was created by Linda Skala, the parent of a Parkway Central student.

The plaque notes the garden is "in loving memory of our friend and classmate Beth Elliott." The inscription is flanked by a butterfly on the left and musical notes on the right.

The garden was designed by Doug Zick, a Parkway Central alumnus who owns Zick's Great Outdoors Nursery and Landscaping Co.

"We looked for something that could be renewed and refreshed and inspired and not real formal looking, something that was in keeping with Beth's free spirit and personality," Mullins said.

The first plantings were done in early October. Students and parents will maintain and continue to add to the garden.

"They plan to donate hostas, trumpet lilies and many more plants in spring," Mullins said. "The cost of the garden will eventually run to several thousand dollars."

Beth's family is coming to the dedication from Florida and will stay with the family of a Parkway Central student, Mullins said.

Beth's father is in the military. He was in the process of being transferred prior to Beth's death.

Any money donated in the future for the garden will be used for new plants, maintenance and possibly a sculpture, Mullins said.

"Beth was a spirited, true-soul kind of kid, and I think this garden would make her very happy," she said.

Minimum wage increase has a way to go

$1 dollar increase approved by Senate, may not pass House before end of year

By Kerry Smith
Staff writer

METRO EAST

U.S. Rep. John Shimkus (R-Collinsville) said the minimum wage increase approved by the Senate Tuesday is similar to the plan drafted by a bipartisan House committee.

The Senate package would raise the minimum wage $1 over three years but ties the increase to $18.4 billion in business tax incentives opposed by President Clinton.

"We still have work to do," Shimkus said Thursday. "The Senate package that passed on Tuesday was very close to what we were looking for, so we take some comfort in that. Now we're working at getting a pulse on the Democrats who support it."

Since September 1997, the minimum hourly wage has been $5.15. The House's minimum wage bill proposes phasing in a 33-cent increase in the year 2000, another 33-cent increase in 2001 and 34 cents more in 2002. The House bill, approved Tuesday by the House Ways and Means Committee, includes a total tax package of $30.2 billion in small business tax rebates.

Shimkus is a member of the House Ways and Means Committee. He said the phased-in wage balances the interests of business owners and workers.

"Our unique feature is combining this increase with tax benefits for businesses possibly affected by the higher labor costs imposed on them by this bill," Shimkus said.

He said he is doubtful whether a final version of the minimum wage bill will be voted on by the end of the current legislative session, which is expected to conclude within the next two weeks.

Small-business tax incentives Shimkus is proposing include a reduction in the inheritance tax. The provision, he said, could save businesses nearly $16.3 billion nationwide.

"I've spoken with too many business owners who have had to sell their company in order to pass along assets to their family members because of this tax," he said. "And six out of every 10 businesses that have to sell are family farms."

Reforms to help small businesses develop pension plans for their workers also are being proposed by Shimkus as part of HR 3081. "Research is showing us that this provision alone could total more than $5 billion in tax savings for small businesses."

Shimkus said he has been involved in legislative battles before but that this is the first one that has been totally bipartisan.

Problem trees on private property is subject of bill

By Heather Cole
Staff writer

Dead or diseased trees on private property in St. Louis could be removed or treated more quickly under a new bill.

Alderman Tom Bauer, D-24th Ward, introduced the bill, which would allow property owners 30 days to take care of problem trees after the Forestry Division has issued a citation. The division may then remove or treat the tree and add a charge for the service to the owner's property tax.

The current system allows a property owner at least 60 days to address problem trees, said Gary Bess, forestry commissioner for the city.

"Right now we have a limited ability to service potentially hazardous trees. What we've been doing the last decade is using the authority of the building commissioner to condemn them as you would a building. It's a long complicated system," Bess said.

With the condemnation process, the division will cite an owner and give the owner 30 days to address the problem. Then the building division will condemn the tree, and the owner will have an additional 30 days to treat or remove the tree. Under both systems, owners can appeal to the city's Board of Adjustment, Bess said.

Funding for the proposed new program has not been determined, however, Bauer said. The city has a backlog of about 700 condemned trees, he said.

Park District offers Steelville trip

GRANITE CITY

The Granite City Park District will offer a second trip of the year to historic Steelville, Mo., for a Christmas music show at the Meramec Music Theatre on Dec. 19. Tickets will go on sale at 8 a.m. Nov. 17 at the Wilson Park Ice Rink. The cost is $39 per person. This includes the cost of the motor coach transportation, music show and complete dinner buffet.

The motor coach will leave the ice rink at 11:15 a.m. on the day of the trip in order to have an early arrival for the 2 p.m. show. The two and one half hour musical will feature country, gospel, pop, golden oldies, bluegrass music and comedy with an emphasis on music for the Christmas holidays. They advertise as "All the fun of a Branson show without the traffic." After the show the group will travel the short distance to Cuba, Mo. To the Come and Get It restaurant for a bountiful buffet that includes a 56 item salad bar, several meat entrees, hot vegetables and many home made desserts.

Enroute home, the coach will travel through various areas of St. Louis to view Christmas lighting displays. The arrival time for Wilson Park should be between 9 and 9:30 p.m. Anyone needing to be picked up will be able to make a phone call from the coach on the way home to verify the time of arrival for the party meeting them.

If more information is needed, contact Sue Champion at the Wilson Park Office.

Decorating Tips
by the experts at

FRANK'S®
NURSERY & CRAFTS
Where Beautiful Things Begin

Decorating time is upon us, and you definitely don't want to wait much longer to spruce up the holiday home. We have some timely tips in decorating, both indoors and out. Let's start outside.

Before stringing the lights up on the house, lay them all out flat and test them, preferably in a darker place like the garage. Bad ones are easy to replace when everything's on the ground. But before you do, it's far safer to unplug the string first.

If this is the first time you'll be stringing lights up on the house, take a few minutes and plan things out. Where will the sets plug in? How many strings will it take to put lights where you want to?

Make absolutely certain your lights are rated for outdoor use. It will tell you so on the box.

It's easy to get carried away when stringing the lights. Never, under any circumstances, hook up more strings on one circuit than is recommended by the manufacturer. Overloading a circuit can put a serious damper on the holiday festivities.

Be extra careful with the lights when you handle the strings. They can bang against the house or driveway in the process, and bulbs can break.

It's always a good idea to run one more test before putting the lights up. It's certainly no fun to find a burned out or broken bulb once they're up. Murphy's law usually comes into play here. If a bad one is found, it's usually the uppermost one, or so it seems.

Now for the inside of your home, which offers plenty of decorating ideas other than the tree. Doorways, for example, are well suited for it. Hanging garland around the perimeter of interior doors makes a cheerful scene indeed. Add lights for even more beauty.

Have a second floor? The banister is perfect for draping garland and lights. Do so on the balusters (the upright posts) so that the banister's handrail can still be used normally.

Lighted garland looks magnificent around the fireplace's mantel. Don't forget to add picks or other decorations.

If you have a Christmas village scene, there's no better time to add to it. Don't have one? There's also no better time to start one from scratch.

To get the most out of wreaths, add ribbons, picks, pine cones, berries and so on. Fashion a multi-loop bow with the ribbon and attach it to the wreaths. As for picks, there are a multitude of them; something's bound to be perfect. Decorate garland in the same manner.

You're bound to come up with more ideas. The sky's the limit. Just don't compromise safety. Use only UL approved light sets; toss away any that are damaged. And make sure you don't string any more sets together than recommended by the manufacturer.

Newsboys fund gets Internet assist

Online auction to benefit children's charities

METRO EAST

Ladies and gentlemen, start your bidding.

Thursday morning is the debut of an Old Newsboys Day web site that features an extensive auction of sports and media-related items.

Proceeds from the auction will benefit the Old Newsboys Day fund for children's charities.

To participate in the auction, go to www.oldnewsboys.com and surf through 50 auction items. Then make your bids.

Among the items on the extensive list are:

- Mark McGwire autographed scorecard from last year's season finale in which McGwire hit home runs 69 and 70.
- Kurt Warner autographed football.
- A poster autographed by Stan Musial.
- A birthday party with Fredbird at a St. Louis Cardinals home game.
- A ride in the Forest Park balloon race.
- Lou Brock autographed baseball bat.
- Wehrenberg Theatres' movie tickets.
- Riverport Amphitheater concert tickets.

Operating the auction is Primary Network, a St. Louis Internet service provider and a co-sponsor of the auction.

Other sponsors include Edward Jones Co., Anheuser-Busch, GTE, Central States Coca-Cola, Emerson Electric and the Suburban Journals.

The bidding period for the first 25 items ends Dec. 2, with the final period for the final 25 items ending on Dec. 9.

Holiday rituals ring close to tradition

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Thanksgiving dinner rituals can be identified in children who come home after a long period away.

They are glad to find their parents have moved beyond decorating the house with mementos of their high school prom and sports achievements, but they can tell where every photo has been moved to make way for the new.

The table on Nov. 25 will hold what has been cooked for that day, as well as all the history of that table. All the forgotten green bean casseroles, giblets left in the bird, cranberries dropped in someone s lap and pumpkin pie fallen to the floor on its way to becoming dessert will supplement the spirit of that holiday meal.

Shirley Corriher ¼ author of CookWise: The Hows and Whys of Successful Cooking, which won the 1998 James Beard Award for Food Reference and Technique ¼ warns against the holiday cook wanting to do everything humanly possible for a perfect occasion.

Give yourself a break. If you buy something store-bought, it isn t the end of the world. Concentrate on things your family would miss if you didn t do them, she says.

People at the table should be encouraged to embrace new traditions. Instead of re-enacting her grandmother s ambrosia, she starts marinating fresh fruit in ginger-syrup on Tuesday before the holiday.

Cut a navel orange in thick pinwheels. Buy the sweetest seedless grapes ¼ whether they are red, white or black, taste them to find out. Forget the melon balls. Instead, peel the melon and cut it in chunks. Pile pretty strawberries on the top, she says.

Corriher chops a chunk of ginger root in a food processor, then pours boiling water over it. After it is cool, she adds sugar, because the fruit is picked before nature had a chance to finish its job of sweetening, and uses just enough flavored water without the ginger to cover the fruit.

Side dishes consume time. If a cook favors a canned product, like creamed corn, which is a perfectly fine vegetable, she recommends getting rid of the cans and serving it proudly.

Prepare vegetables at least a day early and reheat them for the main event, she suggests.

Using her degree in chemistry, Corriher explains that one type of chlorophyll in green vegetables remains bright green if vegetables are cooked less than 7 minutes in boiling, salted water, then plunged immediately into ice water. The maximum time drops to 5 minutes for Brussels sprouts and other cabbages to avoid their aroma.

Otherwise acids come out and turn the green vegetable a yucky gray, she says.

To avoid air leakage, she stores

Carpenters needed to build sweet houses

On Saturday, Dec. 11, frosting will replace cement and gingerbread will form the walls of houses of aspiring young carpenters chosen to participate in the annual Gingerbread House Building Day from 1 to 3 p.m. at Union Station.

Sam s Club will provide kits with baked gingerbread and candy. The Hyatt Regency Hotel in Union Station will mix up white frosting so builders can put together the houses. They get to take them home after building and decorating them.

To participate, children ages 8 to 12 should send the entry blank (or piece of paper with the same information), plus a drawing of a gingerbread holiday house they want to build. The gingerbread house kit provides button candy, gum sticks and spearmint gumdrops (tree-shaped). The children can plan to embellish their houses with other food or candy they bring on their own.

The Journal should receive the entry by Dec. 1. Twenty budding builders will be notified about Dec. 6 that they can participate.

They should bring any extra decorations they wish and kitchen utensils to hammer them together at the event. Gingerbread house kits will be distributed at Building Day.

All children participating will receive prizes, including gifts from merchants at Union Station and gift certificates from Shop n Save Markets.

Send a drawing of a holiday candy "dream" house with information on the entry blank to: Gingerbread House Building Day, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, MO 63131.

Lively Taste

Leftover turkey makes the soup. Prepare it in a slow cooker. Cut up pieces of carcass, removing and saving meat. Add fresh carrot, celery, onion and seasonings. The cooker works best filled only three-fourths full. Remove bones. Add the meat and leftover cooked vegetables just in time to warm through. Also, cooking any dairy product only long enough to warm it in the broth avoids curdling.

Health & Fitness

Medicine Chest

A new study recently published states that while symptoms of pain, numbness and tingling of the hands are present in almost 15 percent of the general population, few truly have carpal tunnel syndrome. Diagnosed either by physical exam or electrical nerve function tests, it is estimated to prevail in 2.7 percent of the population. It often can be treated with braces, wraps or rest before resorting to surgery.

Fresh Picks

Scramble dinner tonight or brunch tomorrow. Chop 2 medium potatoes, 1 medium onion and 1 small red bell pepper. Cook in hot 10-inch skillet coated with nonstick cooking spray, stirring often, about 5 minutes until hot. Using fork or whisk, mix together 2 cups yolk-free egg product (8 eggs), 2 tablespoons chopped fresh or 2 teaspoons dried leaf basil, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper. Add to skillet. As mixture begins to set at bottom and side, gently lift cooked portions with spatula occasionally to let thin portion flow to bottom. Cook 3 to 4 minutes until egg is thickened through but still moist.

Big Fat Tip

Being fat-savvy during holidays conserves calories and saves extra exercise later. For a starter, serve bite-size fresh vegetables with dip based on nonfat sour cream. Offer hot apple cider, spiced cranberry juice or other combination of fruit juices as punch. The white breast meat of turkey without the skin is convenient. Pick French bread over a crescent roll. Thin down candied sweet potatoes by warming cooked potatoes with light pancake syrup. Simplify vegetables. Keep them crisp and colorful. Use salt-free seasonings, like lemon and garlic. Hearty vegetables can be roasted at a high temperature in the oven; lightly spray their tops with nonstick cooking spray and sprinkle with herbs before baking. For dessert, serve a slice of pumpkin pie made with evaporated skim milk.

Future Shop

The U.S. Department of Agriculture urges consumers at-risk of illness from food-borne bacteria (Listeria monocytogenes) to take extra care when they eat ready-to-serve foods, like hot dogs, luncheon meat, cold cuts, fermented or dry sausage, and other deli-style meat and poultry. The USDA recommends that if these foods cannot be reheated until steaming hot, other choices should be made. Newborns, pregnant women, older adults, and people with weakened immune systems caused by AIDS, diabetes, kidney disease and certain cancer treatments qualify as at-risk. To learn more about safe food practices, call the USDA s toll-free Meat and Poultry Hotline at (800) 535-4555, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays.

Breakfast flapjacks can be hot cakes for early morning

By Sherri Hoyt
Correspondent

No matter what the name, pancakes stack up to a tasty and nutritious breakfast. Since breakfast "breaks" the overnight "fast," complex carbohydrates from pancakes give hungry bodies fuel for a morning full of school, work or errands.

HEART-Y BITES

Studies show students perform better on tests, workers operate with less fatigue and the risk for heart disease may lessen when breakfast is eaten. Though more research is needed, studies indicate breakfast skippers have higher blood cholesterol levels than those who eat a morning meal.

One of the oldest forms of bread, traditional pancake batters are rich in oil, eggs and whole milk. A crown of butter and heavy syrup raises the fat and calorie ante.

Lighten a favorite recipe on a crisp autumn morning with these suggestions:

- Use two egg whites or 1/4 cup yolk-free egg product for every whole egg to save about 200 milligrams cholesterol and five grams fat.
- Prepare a reduced-fat pancake mix with skim milk or low-fat buttermilk.
- Substitute whole wheat, buckwheat or uncooked oats for part of the all-purpose flour in homemade varieties to add nutrients and fiber of whole grains.
- Stir fresh or frozen (thawed) fruit into batter before pouring on a hot griddle. Blueberries are a classic, while blackberries, shredded apple, dried cranberries and apricot puree add fresh new tastes.
- Add subtle, fruity flavor to the batter by using pineapple juice or apricot nectar for a portion of the liquid. Add finely shredded orange or lemon peel with dry ingredients.
- Cook pancakes on a nonstick griddle or skillet coated with nonstick cooking spray to keep extra fat minimal.
- Skip the slather of butter or margarine on top. Butter-flavored syrup provides flavor without the 7 to 12 grams fat in a tablespoon of butter or traditional margarine.
- Reduced-calorie "light" syrups contain half the calories of regular syrup. For flavor variety, simmer light syrup with cinnamon sticks, cloves, raspberries or peach chunks until warm and fragrant.
- High-fat plate mates sabotage a lightened entree. Trade a bacon or sausage side for turkey or soy-based counterparts, Canadian bacon or a simple fruit salad.
- In lieu of weekday cooking, whip up one or two different batters, cook, then cool the pancakes completely on wire racks. Freeze pancakes in layers between sheets of waxed paper. . Store in resealable plastic bags. Individual pancakes warm quickly in a microwave oven on a busy morning.

This pancake recipe is rich with the fruit of fall's harvest — pumpkin.

Registered dietitian Sherri Hoyt is a member of the nutrition committee of the American Heart Association, Greater St. Louis Division.

PUMPKIN-CORNMEAL PANCAKES

3/4 cup all-purpose flour
3/4 cup yellow cornmeal
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1-1/2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. pumpkin pie spice
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1-2/3 cups low-fat buttermilk
3/4 cup canned pumpkin
2 tbsp. oil
3 egg whites
2 egg yolks

In large bowl, combine flour, cornmeal, brown sugar, baking powder, pie spice, baking soda and salt. Stir well.

Combine buttermilk, pumpkin, oil, egg whites and yolks. Stir well. Add to flour mixture, stirring until smooth.

Spoon about 1/3 cup batter for each pancake onto hot nonstick griddle or nonstick skillet. Cook 1 minute on each side or until done in center; bubbles do not form on pancakes and edges do not look cooked.

Makes 12 pancakes; 264 calories, 8.5 g protein, 40 g carbohydrate, 8 g fat (2.3 g saturated), 73 mg cholesterol and 500 mg sodium per 2-pancake serving.

Note: To reduce sodium further, 1 cup skim milk combined with 1 tablespoon vinegar can be used instead of buttermilk.

Brownies almost bake by themselves

Testers appreciate quick bake time of chocolate treats

Pillsbury and Nestle, like usual, wants to put non-cooks in the baker's seat with brownies and cookies.

The only way for Pillsbury's one-step rich fudge brownies and Nestle Roll House chocolate chip cookies to be easier to make is if they could rip open their own packages, turn on the oven and jump in to bake.

"Quick! Where's the milk?" was the unabashed response of one tester who remembered his mother's Toll House cookies.

TEST RUN

The cookies are made from a rectangular package of dough. The refrigerated package of 20 dough chunks costs $2.99. They are indented to pull apart and lay on a baking sheet.

They bake into round cookies in a size generous enough testers appreciated. An enclosure tells how to make bar cookies or a pizza cookie.

"You can see the little marking on the baked tops where they started as squares. But they bake up free-form because the dough is is pulled apart in the first place. They look like homemade," the baker said.

She used an ungreased pan and the warm cookies came up with slight encouragement from a pancake. Baking directions call for 10 to 12 minutes. After the maximum time, they were browning on top.

"They seemed very soft and perhaps undercooked, but they cooled down to the right consistency," she said.

Given a goal of instant-gratification cookies, a taster rated them "overall" at 10.

"They had large chocolate chunks that melted nicely. They sounded as if they were very easy to make, which is so convenient for people who don't have much time," she said.

Others checkmarked high taste and quality.

"They have a homemade taste, soft and chewy texture with nice chocolatey chips that melt nicely," a tester said.

Another called them "very, very chocolatey and just as moist as can be."

A non-cook put herself in the picture.

"They're great for lazy slugs like me who could only justify devoting time to cookie baking if the dough goes straight from the box to the stove, with little human intervention," she said.

> "Maybe we should call these 'lazies' instead of brownies."
> Anonymous taster
> of Pillsbury's one-step rich fudge brownies

Pillsbury one-step brownies are even easier to bake. Unbaked dough comes in an aluminum pan. Available in its plastic bag for $2.99, once a cardboard cover over the pan is removed, it is ready to be baked.

"Chocolatey" again was a very positive assessment overall. Their rich chocolate taste won over the person who baked them.

"Maybe we should call these 'lazies' instead of brownies," a taster said. "I love the time-saving measure of being able to pop the container right in the oven."

She appreciated them not being overly sweet or bitter.

Several said they preferred brownies less moist.

"The consistency seemed a bit thin. Some people, I understand, like them that way. I myself prefer them a little more chewy," a taster said.

Another thought the softness of the brownie made them seemed "mixy" or underbaked. On the other hand, it did not make her take away a "gold star" for the product.

"Being the kind of person who sometimes mixes up brownie mix just to eat it raw, I didn't really mind. It was nice and chocolatey," she said.

She said putting the dough in a pan helped earned it a gold star.

Praline flavor fills thumbprint of pecan cookie

Mountain retreat brings tasty new treats to light

Linda Thompson, Fenton, wins this week's Cookie Recipe Contest for Praline Thumbprint Cookies. The prize is dinner certificates at the Pasta House Co.

BLUE RIBBON COOK

Her sister shared the recipe as part of a "ladies only" week in the mountains near Manitou Springs, Colo.

"They're nearly addictive," she said in her entry.

The praline-flavored filling should be added to the pecan cookies after they are baked and cooled, which makes it easy to bake the cookies ahead and have the filling fresh. They also freeze well. Her husband and son agree that these cookies are not a ladies-only variety.

A recipe for a chicken or turkey casserole should be postmarked by Nov. 30 to be considered a possible winner one of the five Wednesdays in December.

A single recipe should be sent to: Chicken or Turkey Casserole Recipe Contest, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis 63131. Type or print the recipe legibly on one side of the paper. The recipe also can be e-mailed to westnews@primary.net.

Include name, address and telephone number on the entry. Name the Journal you receive.

Winners will be chosen from entries on the basis of taste and eye appeal, as well as originality, although the recipe need not be original. As usual, the history of the recipe will be considered part of the entry. If possible, name the recipe's source.

Double-check the recipe as it is written for both amounts and directions. Include any variations that make this dish special.

Winners are notified by mail. Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or best compliance with the rules. Contest winners may enter again six months after their prize-winning publication date.

PRALINE THUMBPRINT COOKIES

1 cup (2 sticks) butter, softened
1 cup confectioner's sugar
2 cups flour
1 cup pecans, finely chopped
1 tsp. vanilla
Praline Filling

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

Cream butter. Mix in confectioner's sugar, then flour, until well combined. Stir in pecans and vanilla.

Shape into 1-inch balls. Place 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheets. Make well in center of each cookie.

Bake in preheated oven 12 to 16 minutes until golden. If necessary, press down indentation, using back of spoon, while still hot to make room for filling. Cool.

Spoon warm Praline Filling into well of each cooled cookie.

Praline Filling: Melt 1/3 cup butter in saucepan. Add 2/3 cup brown sugar and pinch of salt. Bring to boil. Boil and stir 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in 1/3 cup evaporated milk. Bring to boil. Boil and stir 2 minutes longer. Remove from heat. Cool 5 minutes. Stir in 1-1/3 cups confectioner's sugar and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Stir until smooth.

Note: Fill cookies immediately and quickly so filling does not cool and set.

them in resealable plastic bags made for freezer use. She reheats Brussels sprouts with a little butter and tosses in a few Italian bread crumbs.

For broccoli, she adds a touch of oil when reheating, then tops it with drops of chile oil she makes by heating oil with jalapeno pepper and onion.

Potatoes, of course, are important to the holiday ritual. To serve them hot, she warns against the tradition of mashing them at the last minute.

"The biggest problem for cooks is getting all the (hot) food on the table at once," Corriher says.

Her solution is to make mashed potatoes up to a day in advance. She adds a teaspoon of vinegar to the water to keep potatoes white and mashes them with extra moisture.

She covers them tightly with aluminum foil and stores them in the refrigerator. Reheating, still covered, in a preheated 325 degree oven takes about 40 minutes until they are "piping hot" for heat that lingers.

Corriher recommends the cook use all the appliances available. She was traveling locally on behalf of the new Maytag Gemini range, which offers two separate ovens, temperatures, and broilers in the space of a conventional range.

If the kitchen has only one oven, she recommends serving some food at room temperature. For instance, ham can be baked or slow-roasted ahead or bought by brand with the intention of serving without reheating.

"I always make a big pot of soup and if someone is wandering around hungry, they can take it out and heat what they want for themselves," she advises.

Her dressing starts with bagged prepared stuffing mix, to which she adds lots of chopped celery, onion and roasted pecans or walnuts.

She bakes it separately from the turkey so it is baked safely until done without overcooking the meat.

She saves 1 cup of uncooked stuffing mixture and stirs it into the gravy for winning flavor and texture.

Corriher advises assigning dishes or jobs to everyone at the meal.

"If everybody brings their fair share, there is not a colossal strain on a single person," she says.

For the main event, she covers the turkey's breast with aluminum foil at the beginning of roasting and turns it so the leg and thigh on one side are to the back of the oven, so they cook more thoroughly.

Then she turns it so the other leg and thigh are to the back and removes the foil to brown the breast, too.

Protein plus sugar produce good browning, so she bastes the turkey at the beginning or midway through cooking with a combination of melted butter and corn syrup, then bastes the skin with drippings after that.

TRADITIONAL HOLIDAY TURKEY

8 to 24 lb. turkey, thawed
Oil

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Line roasting pan at least 2 inches deep with heavy-duty aluminum foil.

Remove neck and giblets from turkey, rinse turkey and pat dry.

Place turkey in foil-lined roasting pan. If desired, loosely stuff turkey. Brush with oil. Insert meat thermometer into thickest part of thigh, not touching bone.

Make foil tent by placing sheet of foil over turkey, leaving 1 inch between turkey, foil for heat circulation. Crimp foil onto long sides of pan.

Roast meat until meat thermometer reads 180 degrees. For stuffed turkey, add 30 minutes to roasting time. To brown turkey, remove foil after 1 hour of roasting.

Roasting times: 2-1/2 to 3 hours for 8- to 12-pound turkey; 3 to 3-1/2 hours for 12- to 16-pound turkey; 3-1/2 to 4 hours for 16- to 20-pound turkey; 4 to 5 hours for 20- to 24-pound turkey.

Let turkey stand 15 minutes before slicing.

HERBED TURKEY BREAST

1 large-size aluminum foil cooking bag
1/4 cup water
1 tbsp. flour
1-1/2 tsp. rosemary
1-1/2 tsp. thyme
1-1/2 tsp. tarragon
5 to 7 lb. bone-in turkey breast
Seasoned salt and pepper

Preheat oven to 450 degrees.

Lightly coat inside of foil bag with nonstick cooking spray. Combine water and flour. Pour into bag.

Combine rosemary, thyme and tarragon. Rub over turkey. Sprinkle with seasoned salt, pepper. Place in bag.

To seal, double-fold open end of foil bag and place bag in 1-inch-deep pan.

To cook, bake turkey in bag in supporting pan in preheated oven 1-1/2 hours to 1-3/4 hours until meat thermometer reads 170 degrees.

Using oven mitts, cut open bag and carefully fold it back to let steam escape. Let stand 15 minutes before slicing.

Grill method: Slide foil bag onto grill rack. Cook in covered grill 1 to 1-1/2 hours.

Today's Food

PUMPKIN BREAD

1/3 cup raisins
1/3 cup water
1/3 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup pumpkin
1-1/2 cups flour
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. ground cloves
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
1/4 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. baking soda
1/4 tsp. salt
1/3 cup chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour 9-by-5-inch loaf pan.

Pour hot water over raisins. Set aside.

In large bowl, mix butter with sugar. Beat in eggs, then pumpkin.

In another bowl, stir together flour, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Beat into pumpkin mixture, then stir in walnuts, raisins and remaining raisin water.

Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake in preheated oven about 1 hour. Bread is done when toothpick inserted in center emerges clean.

ALL-AMERICAN STUFFING

3/4 cup (1-1/2 sticks) butter
2 medium onions, finely chopped
4 ribs celery, finely chopped
3 large apples, peeled, cored, cut in 1/2 inch pieces
1 pkg. (16 oz.) cornbread stuffing crumbs
1 lb. bulk pork sausage
3/4 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
2 tsp. ground ginger
1 cup apple cider
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

Melt 1/2 cup butter over medium heat in large pan. Cook onion and celery about 10 minutes until soft. Stir in apple. Cook 5 minutes longer. In large bowl, combine vegetables and fruit with cornbread crumbs.

In same skillet over medium-high heat, crumble and cook sausage 7 to 10 minutes until browned. Add sausage, walnuts and ginger to stuffing mixture.

Melt remaining 1/4 cup butter. Pour butter and apple cider over stuffing. If more moisture is desired, add more cider. Season with salt and pepper.

If stuffing turkey, immediately stuff mixture loosely into bird's cavities and roast. For casserole, bake mixture in buttered or greased casserole dish in preheated 325 degree oven 50 to 60 minutes until browned and crunchy.

Makes 14 cups stuffing, enough for 16- to 22-pound turkey.

Praline flavor fills thumbprint of pecan cookie

Linda Thompson, Fenton, wins this week's Cookie Recipe Contest for Praline Thumbprint Cookies. The prize is dinner certificates at the Pasta House Co.

BLUE RIBBON COOK

Her sister shared the recipe as part of a "ladies only" week in the mountains near Manitou Springs, Colo.

"They're nearly addictive," she said in her entry.

The praline-flavored filling should be added to the pecan cookies after they are baked and cooled, which makes it easy to bake the cookies ahead and have the filling fresh. They also freeze well.

A recipe for a chicken or turkey casserole should be postmarked by Nov. 30 to be considered a possible winner one of the five Wednesdays in December.

A single recipe should be sent to: Chicken or Turkey Casserole Recipe Contest, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis 63131. Type or print the recipe legibly on one side of the paper. The recipe also can be e-mailed to westnews@primary.net.

Include name, address and telephone number on the entry. Name the Journal you receive.

PRALINE THUMBPRINT COOKIES

- 1 cup (2 sticks) butter, softened
- 1 cup confectioner's sugar
- 2 cups flour
- 1 cup pecans, finely chopped
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- Praline Filling

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

Cream butter. Mix in confectioner's sugar, then flour, until well combined. Stir in pecans and vanilla.

Shape into 1-inch balls. Place 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheets. Make well in center of each cookie.

Bake in preheated oven 12 to 16 minutes until golden. If necessary, press down indentation, using back of spoon, while still hot to make room for filling. Cool.

Spoon warm Praline Filling into well of each cooled cookie.

Praline Filling: Melt 1/3 cup butter in saucepan. Add 2/3 cup brown sugar and pinch of salt. Bring to boil. Boil and stir 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in 1/3 cup evaporated milk. Bring to boil. Boil and stir 2 minutes longer. Remove from heat. Cool 5 minutes. Stir in 1-1/3 cups confectioner's sugar and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Stir until smooth.

Note: Fill cookies immediately and quickly so filling does not cool and set.

STORING LEFTOVERS

After the Thanksgiving feast, carve remaining meat from the turkey and cover tightly with plastic wrap. Remove all stuffing from turkey before serving. Store leftovers separately. Use stuffing within two days.

Path to heart of dessert paved by cheesecake

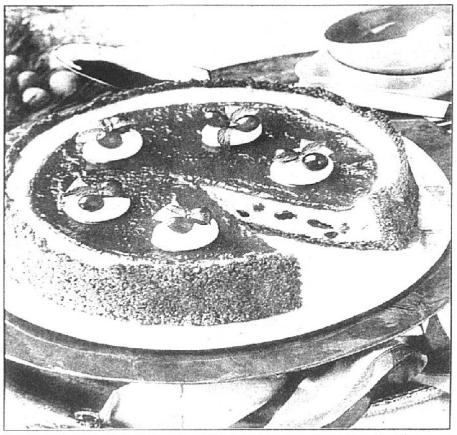
Cheesecake is a frequent headliner on holiday menus for good reason. Other desserts delight many palates, but few people can resist cheesecake.

Once banished from the menu by healthy eating experts, cheesecake and other rich desserts now are seen as part of a healthful diet when they are eaten in moderation. There also are ways to make these special treats less decadent without sacrificing flavor.

Guests will never guess Ultimate Holiday Cheesecake contains reduced-fat cream cheese and sour cream, and just a bit of butter in the crust. Used in place of traditional graham cracker crumbs, wheat germ imparts nutty flavor and nutrition to the crust.

Cheesecake is not difficult to make, but it does require a plan. To give flavors time to blend and make serving easier, cheesecake should be baked the day before serving and refrigerated overnight to let it become firm.

The sweet-tart cranberry-orange topping that crowns this fabulous cake should be added several hours before serving.



Cheesecake takes colorful turn with cranberries in and on its creamy filling.

ULTIMATE HOLIDAY CHEESECAKE

Crust
1/2 cup dried cranberries
1/4 cup orange juice
2 pkg. (8 oz. each) light cream cheese, softened
3/4 cup granulated sugar
3 eggs
1 cup light sour cream
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. grated orange peel
1 can (8 oz.) jellied cranberry sauce
1 to 2 tbsp. water

Crust: In medium bowl, combine 1-1/2 cups wheat germ, 1/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar and 1-1/2 teaspoons cinnamon. Mix well. Using fork, beat egg white with 2 teaspoons water until frothy. Mix with wheat germ mixture until dry ingredients are evenly moistened. Using pastry blender or two knives, cut in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine until mixture is crumbly.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Press Crust on bottom and up side of ungreased 9-inch springform pan. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven 7 to 8 minutes until golden brown. Cool completely on wire rack.

In microwave-safe bowl, combine cranberries and orange juice. Cover. Microwave on high power 1-1/2 minutes.

In large bowl, beat cream cheese and granulated sugar, using electric mixer, until smooth. Add eggs. Mix well. Beat in sour cream, vanilla and orange peel. Continue beating until smooth. Gently fold in cranberries and any liquid in bowl. Pour over crust in pan.

Bake cheesecake on center rack of preheated oven 50 minutes or until set around edge (center will jiggle). Turn off oven. Open oven door and let cake sit undisturbed 30 minutes.

Transfer to wire rack to cool completely. Cover and refrigerate overnight.

A few hours before serving, whisk together cranberry sauce and water in saucepan over low heat until smooth. Cool slightly. Spread on cake. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Note: To soften cranberries on stovetop, bring them and orange juice to boil in small saucepan. Cover. Remove from heat.

TWO-AT-ONCE ROASTED TURKEY BREAST

1 oven baking bag, turkey size (19-by-23-inch)
1 tbsp. flour
2 medium onions, each cut in eighths
4 ribs celery, sliced
2 bone-in turkey breasts, thawed (4 to 8 lb. each)
Oil
Seasoned salt and pepper

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Shake flour in oven bag; place in roasting pan at least 2 inches deep. Add onion and celery to bag.

Brush turkey with oil. Sprinkle with seasoned salt and pepper. Place on top of vegetables in oven bag. Close bag with nylon tie; cut six (1/2 inch) slits in top.

Bake in preheated oven 1-1/2 to 2 hours until meat thermometer reads 170 degrees.

For easy slicing, let stand in bag 10 minutes.

Makes 8 to 20 servings.

LEMON-COCONUT FILLING

In saucepan, bring 1-1/3 cups flaked coconut, 1/4 cup cornstarch, 1-1/2 cups sugar, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons lemon rind, 1 cup boiling water and, if desired, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine to full boil, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat. Boil and stir 1 minute. Add butter. Cool to room temperature.

Stir, then spread filling between cake layers.

Get A Grip on Arthritis.

We're close-to-home. After all, when you are trying to get a grip on arthritis, you need something to hold onto.

For the past 14 years, the professionals at the Arthritis Service of Southern Illinois - Memorial have helped people get a grip on their arthritis pain. THAW OUT THAT BIRD

To thaw a frozen turkey, place it in its original wrapper in a baking pan or on a baking sheet with lip to prevent drips in the refrigerator. Allow about 24 hours of thawing time for each five pounds of turkey.

For example, a 12- to 16-pound turkey should thaw in the refrigerator in two to three days.

Once thawed, a turkey should not be refrozen. After it has been cooked, however, leftovers can be frozen for future meals.

A turkey should not be thawed at room temperature, because as the outer part of the bird warms up to that temperature, micro-organisms that also thaw can grow and multiply.

If it is bought too late or forgotten in time for a slow thaw in a refrigerator, the still-frozen turkey can be submerged in cold water in a kitchen sink or large tub.

Water should be changed every 30 minutes. Allow 30 minutes per pound to thaw it in a cold water bath. A 12- to 16-pound turkey. Should thaw in six to eight hours.

It should be cooked immediately after it is thawed.

TURKEY NEEDS HOT TIME WITH THE LID DOWN

Roasting is a slow process, so the turkey centerpiece on Thanksgiving Day should be allowed enough time in the oven or roaster to get all parts of the turkey done.

Allow 15 to 20 minutes per pound. A stuffed turkey requires about 45 minutes longer to cook than one without stuffing.

These are only guidelines. After the bird is removed from the oven, let a fresh-roasted turkey stand 15 to 20 minutes before removing stuffing and carving. This provides firmer meat that is easier to carve.

Dark roasting pans cook faster than shiny metals. Using a pan with a lid or aluminum foil loosely tented slows cooking. Leaving off a lid results in more of a roasted, rather than steamed, flavor.

Oven calibration and the position of the rack on which the pan is placed also affect cooking time.

A meat thermometer is the only certain way to tell if turkey is done. A pop-up timer checks temperature in only one area and its depth is not adequate for larger birds.

A thermometer should be inserted in the innermost portion of the thigh meat, not resting on bone. When it registers 180 degrees, the turkey should be cooked. Stuffing should register 165 degrees in the center. Juices should be clear.

TALK-LINE GOBBLES UP TURKEY QUESTIONS

The Butterball Turkey Talk-Line -- toll-free 1-800-323-4848 --is available with around-the-clock assistance until Dec. 23.

Forty-eight home economists and nutritionists are trained to help solve problems of holiday cooks and give them solutions to turkey preparation needs.

Personal help is available from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays through Nov. 24; from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Nov. 20 and 21, Nov. 26 to Dec. 23; and from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thanksgiving Day. At other times automated assistance is available.

Talk-Line home economists also will answer questions by e-mail throughout the time. For online assistance and e-mail, the site is www.butterball.com. Hearing- and speech-impaired assistance is available at 1-800-TDD-3848.

Last year's hotline received more than 2.3 million calls.

HAM 'N' YAM CASSEROLE

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) yams, drained
2 cups cubed cooked ham
1 can (16 oz.) whole cranberry sauce
1 tbsp. spicy mustard
1 tsp. grated dried orange peel
1/2 cup chopped pecans
2 tbsp. firmly packed brown sugar

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Grease 8-inch square baking pan.

Arrange yams in prepared pan. Sprinkle with ham.

Combine cranberry sauce, mustard and orange peel. Pour over ham-yam mixture. Sprinkle with pecans and brown sugar.

Bake in preheated oven about 20 minutes until hot.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Microwave directions: Use 2-quart microwave-safe baking dish. Cover loosely. Microwave on high power 10 to 15 minutes until hot, rotating once.

Redesigned Avalon is smooth and roomy

By Tom Strongman

Toyota's built-in-America Avalon has been aimed at the heart of the family sedan segment since its introduction in 1995, territory normally occupied by Buick, Pontiac, Ford and Mercury. This year's redesign gives them all a run for their money.

Avalon is new throughout for 2000. The creased, folded exterior, with a long hood and a short trunk, looks a lot like the Lexus GS 300, a point that is not likely to sit well with GS owners. (Lexus is the American luxury division of Toyota.) This angular styling, however, also is manifest on the 2000 Celica, which indicates it is likely to be seen on more products in the future.

The styling is a product of Toyota's California design center. Engineering is a result of cooperation between Toyota's Japanese and American units, while production is exclusive to Toyota's plant in Georgetown, Ky. The Avalon is classified as a domestic product, and it is the first Toyota built solely for the United States market.

The Avalon is derived from the Camry. The wheelbase is stretched about two inches and the body is wider, but most of the mechanical pieces underneath are the same. Inside, there is more shoulder room, and a bench front seat can handle three people. The optional bucket seats would be my choice because of their comfort and because the instrument panel looks better with the center console.

Squint your eyes and the grill looks a bit like a Buick. The dash is dominated by a sweeping black arc that has a speedometer and tachometer in front of the driver, and in the XLS, a readout for the trip computer in the center. The Avalon may be the Japanese interpretation of the American sedan, but it excels in areas where its competitors do not.

Slip behind the wheel and the Avalon feels more like a Lexus than an imitation Ford Crown Victoria. The test car, a top-of-the-line XLS, is plush, quiet and very smooth. It rides with an uncommon lack of road noise, something that is becoming a Toyota trademark. Generous use of sound-deadening material and attention to detail in countless areas, such as a foam underbody coating that deadens the noise of stones thrown up by the tires, results in this Avalon even quieter than the original.

Another area where it differs from its domestic competitors is in the smoothness of its 3.0-liter V-6 engine. This power plant, which drives the front wheels, uses variable valve timing to make the most of its potential, and power output is now up to 210. The variable valve timing accounts for this engine's ability to be strong at both low and high speeds. If you want to slink through the suburbs at a crawl, it does so without the slightest complaint. When you need to accelerate down a freeway ramp, this lovely V-6 rises to the occasion with a high-rpm burst that gets you up to speed with a smile on your face.

Accompanying this engine is an automatic transmission whose shifts are as imperceptible as the federal budget surplus.

Anti-lock brakes are standard, but a vehicle skid control system ($850), including traction control and brake assist, is optional on the XLS. The added safety and control this unit provides is worth the extra cost. Too bad it isn't an option on the XL model, too.

The cabin is both handsome and spacious. While some may not like the Buick-like sweep of the dash, I found it attractive. The console curves gracefully from the seats to the dash and houses heating/cooling controls as well as the stereo. Cup holders slide out of the console back near the driver's elbow where drinks can be bumped easily.

Like most Toyotas, switches and knobs glide as smoothly as if they were mounted in silicone and the wide, flat stereo buttons are a cinch to use.

Our test car was equipped with the upgraded stereo, a JBL unit that has a six-disc in-dash CD player and sound strong enough to melt your eardrums.

Rear-seat legroom is extremely generous, and three people can ride in greater comfort than before because the rear seat was raised 1 inch and moved back one-half inch.

Despite having a short lid, trunk capacity was more than adequate.

Avalon is not perfect. First, the XLS is pretty expensive. The base price of our test car was $29,755, and its sticker price was $34,068. The XL starts at $25,195.

Second, at very slow speeds, the front tires thumped over minor bumps and could be felt through the steering wheel. At anything more than a walking pace, however, the noise disappears and things smooth out.

Third, the trip computer on the XLS sits in the center of the dash, and it was distracting at night. Turning off the display, however, takes a mighty reach because the button is located far from the driver.

From my perspective, the Avalon does a much better job of imitating a Lexus than a Buick, especially considering our test car's sticker price of $34,068.

The base price of the XLS was $29,755. Options included the vehicle stability control, heated leather seats, heated outside mirrors, aluminum wheels and the JBL stereo with six-disc CD changer.

The basic warranty is for three years or 36,000 miles.
